Unaccompanied and Separated Girls
QUIZ?
Definition

Unaccompanied children are separated from both parents and other relatives and are not being cared for by an adult who, by law or custom, is responsible for doing so.

Separated children are separated from both parents, or from their previous primary or customary caregiver, but not necessarily other relatives.

Unaccompanied and Separated Girls
Experience from the field

Info Park experience and practice in the field showed that:

- Group of unaccompanied girls appear in few numbers, are usually reluctant to look for assistance and disappear as quick as they have appeared.

- Unaccompanied girls usually come from very few countries (Somalia, Eritrea) and usually all tell the same story as if it was rehearsed.

- However, In their safe space and thanks to structured outreach some few cases of separated girls were also identified especially from Iraq and Afghanistan.
Spot the girl

Some 30,000 children arrived in Greece, Italy, Bulgaria and Spain between January and December 2018—a 9% drop compared to 2017. A total of 12,700 children who arrived in Europe in 2018 were unaccompanied and separated. Some 14,600 refugee children were resettled in Europe in 2018, mostly to the United Kingdom, France and Sweden. Out of the total number of children who sought international protection in Europe in 2018, almost 70% were registered in just three countries: Germany (78,280), France (24,135) and Greece (21,770).

What data tells us?

BULGARIA
- In 2018, girls accounted for 3% of UASC with boys making up 97% (80% aged 15-17 years).

GREECE
- In 2018, girls accounted for 6.2% (232) of total UASC with 93% of these aged 15-17 years.

ITALY
- In 2018 girls account for 7.2% of UASC registered.

SERBIA
- In 2018 only 1 UAGirl accommodated in dedicated accommodation.
Share of female UAMs (x-axis) and share of UAMs younger than 14 years old (y-axis) in total UAM applicants

Figure 32: The proportion of UAM applicants younger than 14 years old was larger among females than males.
What data does not tell us?

However, these figures only represent those registered and is not indicative of all unaccompanied and separate girls on the move, travelling with others believed to be their family, self-identifying as over 18 years or avoiding detections.
How do they Travel?

“boys help the families, but girls need the families”

Challenges to identification

When in Europe

| Lack of spaces where girls can be supported and accommodated | Reluctance of social services/municipalities to accommodate girls due to doubts over age and identity | Time needed to build trusting relationship with girls to share experiences and to observe family dynamics is limited | Limited capacity to provide follow up care (e.g. SV survivors) | Lack of awareness and understanding on gender specific risks for unaccompanied or separated girl |
What girls told us

I didn’t have the information about what will happen to them when they say they are alone and a minor.

I stayed 3 months before identifying as unaccompanied.
Married girls – special considerations

Married girls should be considered ‘unaccompanied’ if they are travelling only with the adult spouse and not accompanied by her parents

- How do we identify what is best and safest for them?
- Which specific considerations do we need to take into account?
- Which are the current practices?
Preliminary Conclusion

Girls are more ‘invisible’ than boys
Different strategies to travel than boys

Often associated with a family or an adult as coping mechanism, this also increases their risks of exploitation, violence and trafficking.

Gaps in available data and research that focus on the numbers, patterns, risks and experiences of girls

Limited tools and guidance for practitioners
Key Recommendations

Improving tools, training and resources for frontline workers, service providers and national authorities to build awareness and skills to identify girls.

Enhancing capacity to identify unaccompanied and separated girls and provide appropriate responses
